1	2023	Rural Development & Poverty Alleviation	The Wagh Educational Foundation's rural programs aim to provide key services and promote sustainable progress. They focus on bettering agriculture, health, and creating work for rural people. These efforts aid in economic and social growth, and gender equality in rural India.	The Foundation uses participatory approaches in rural programs. This means involving farmers' knowledge and promoting sustainable methods. The aim is to make services fit local needs and empower communities by including them in development.
2	2024	Women's Development & Empowerment	The Wagh Educational Foundation trained rural children in various skills, promoting their development. Opportunities were provided for children to acquire essential skills, from computer literacy to vocational training, equipping them for future success and aiming to break the cycle of poverty.	Wagh Educational Foundation's Art for Change empowers rural youth through creative expression. Art-based programs let young individuals in rural areas express themselves, develop life skills, and foster community. This initiative uses art for positive change, inspiring confidence and nurturing socially conscious individuals.
3	2025	Vocational Training	The Wagh Educational Foundation has made significant progress in both education and community development. Since 2016-17, the foundation has been actively running computer classes to improve digital literacy among students. They have also distributed notebooks and stationery to rural schools, positively impacting thousands of students by ensuring they have the necessary learning materials. In addition, the foundation provides scholarships to support students pursuing higher education, helping to	The Wagh Educational Foundation follows a thoughtful and community-focused approach in its work. A key aspect of their practice is the active involvement of dedicated volunteers who play an important role in driving various initiatives forward. Their programs are carefully designed to meet the unique needs of rural communities, ensuring that the support they provide is relevant and impactful. The foundation places strong emphasis on the regular distribution of educational resources, helping to m
